Staying the Course – Why CI Matters More Than Ever

Mark Ashworth – Executive Director, Business Systems Support Indiana Department of Revenue

Introduction

Indiana Department of Revenue 7+ Years

25+ years in leadership, both private and public sectors

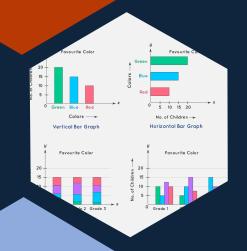

Tobias Leadership Fellow, Chair of Advisory Board

Show Dog Dad

Continuous ImprovementMatters Now More Than Ever

- Essential during administration changes
- Critical in tough economic times
- Vital in state government organizations
- Prevents agencies from turning into Swiss cheese

CHANGING LANDSCAPE

Multiple Administrations

Leadership turnover disrupts priorities and momentum

RISK

Cl becomes fragmented or sidelined

Economic & Budget Pressures

Revenue fluctuations, recession, and inflation all create uncertainty

RISK

Unknown directions and priorities fragments CI from the agency

Legislative Driven Change

Leadership change and cost cutting affects legislative impact

RISK

Without a CI team, impacts are greater than they need to be

THE CASE FOR COMMITTING TO CONTINUOUS IMPROVEMENT

Model as Anchor

Lean, Six Sigma or ISO: provides buffer to external shock

Culture Carriers

Preserves
institutional memory –
documentation,
flows, data

HBR Evidence

Committed Cl programs see leadership change as opportunity

Turbo Engine

Improves the organizational capacity & capabilities

IU Kelley Insight

Research shows orgs w/embedded Cl are 30-40% more resilient PRACTICAL TAKEAWAYS YOU CAN START TODAY

The 1% Better Challenge

Who: Anyone and Everyone

- 1. Pick one task you do daily, something that frustrates you or takes too long.
- 2. Ask: What's one thing I could do 1% better?
- 3. Track Progress for 1 week and share results with a colleague.

CI Ally Map

Who: Those with CI Experience

- 1. Pick 3 people you work with who complain about processes and might be open to new ideas.
- 2. Each month, invite one to co-brainstorm and share tools with them, like 5-Whys.
- 3. Create a ripple affect, making Cl more about a mindset than titles.
